AN ADVERTISING FEATURE

STYLISH: LHG Homes takes pride in using top-class tradesmen.

SMART: LHG's experience allows it source some of the state's best products.

The most important aspect of any project is the communication between owner and their builder.

QUALITY CONSTRUCTION: LHG Homes's Laurie Gray believes the key to their success is using sub-contractors and suppliers who are regarded as the best in the business.

WHEN building with LHG Homes, clients deal directly with the people who are in control of the process.

"All our homes are built to your requested specifications and we are very proud of the quality of our workmanship," Laurie Gray said.

"For more than a decade we have used predominantly the same sub-contractors and suppliers because they are some of the best in the business.

LHG Homes' construction process usually takes four to six months.

When it comes to workmanship, the Grays strive for excellence.

"We are not ashamed to admit it, we are proud of our work," Laurie said.

"Many of our building projects have gone on to become well-loved homes.

"Our long experience in the building industry enables us to be able to source the best products, work with the best people, and know how to get the best quality home for you and your family."

HELPING TO MAKE DREAMS A REALITY

Laurie and Helen Gray gravitate towards Tasmanian suppliers and contractors who have ideals and a dedication to quality that reflects their own.

"Before the real estate boom it was considered more affordable to buy a home than to build one," Helen said.

"But these days it is a line-ball situation."

Laurie agreed, saying: "If you are going to buy a property and then spend tens of thousands more making it what you want, you may have been better off simply building your dream home from scratch."

Laurie believes it is a fear of the unknown that scares people away from building.

"Maybe they saw a bad story on A Current Affair about a dodgy builder and then started to worry that it could happen to them," he said.

"But if people do their homework and find a reputable builder who, like us, is a long-time member of the Master Builders Association and the Housing Industry Association there will be no need to worry.
